DESCRIPTION	The Balloon Dog Dry Bar is a functional art sculpture designed by Sylvan S.F. Attributed to the iconic sculptures by François-Xavier Lalanne and modern pop-art animals by Jeff Koonz. The functional sculpture is mantled in aubergine dyed parchment hides that have been moulded to form and sealed with a high-gloss hand-poured resin lacquer glaze. Each right-side facing leg opens to reveal small polished brass clad cabinets for spirits and mixers. The third top compartment opens upward and rests on two supportive brass chains, revealing an ice-cracked resin serving area with built-in led lighting. This area stores barware or any other serve ware that needs to be stored. A slide out brass serving shelf adds additional functionality for when the dry bar is in use. Contrast Bronze balloon nose nipple adds contrast and sophistication.
